Frances Martin served alongside her husband, Pastor F.B. Martin, for several decades, in multiple counties across the state of Alabama. But she was so much more than just "the preachers wife". She was incredibly talented and gifted in many areas. Frances could sing with the voice of an angel, bringing a little bit of heaven to earth. With a few strokes, she could turn a blank canvas into an exquisite landscape. "Roast Beef Sunday" extended to "roast beef Monday" as her scrumptious cooking would make the best leftovers. She had an infectious humor and hearty laugh and could fill any room with her cheerful personality. Frances was the epitome of grace in all areas of life. Always daintily dressed with beautiful accessories, not a hair out of place, face made up enhancing her natural beauty and accentuating her magnificent smile. Her nails were perpetually shaped and painted with precision. She was every bit as beautiful on the inside as she was on the outside. She served and loved others and made them feel valued. Frances met strangers and they immediately became friends. She had friends from all generations. Parents, children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren have all experienced her soothing words of comfort, remarkable words of encouragement, and invaluable nuggets of wisdom and truth. When walking towards her, one would see arms opened and ready for a hug and walking away they would feel most important and precious.

Frances Martin was a shining light, a beacon of hope pointing all people to her Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, inviting all to become a part of the family of God.

“ I will never forget how my baby girl and I were welcomed and loved at Isom's Chapel, by this precious soul. Mrs Frances had her arms extended and ready for a hug as soon as she spotted Ashleigh and I. Speaking and acknowledging us right away, she made us feel seen and loved. We had felt seen before, but it was in a negative light, as I was a single mom to my sweet baby. The church we left had let me know that I had caused them to have a "black eye" and I was no longer welcomed to sing there. I was crushed in spirit and felt completely ashamed. The very next Sunday, I went to Isom's Chapel because I had been there as a teen and loved the people there. Bro. Banny and Mrs Frances both hugged us as we were leaving the service, never once asking where her daddy was or if I was married. They loved us from the start and we loved them, and we have loved and felt loved for over 36 years. Mrs Frances, we will certainly miss your presence, but your Christ-like love will remain forever.
