“ My heart is heavy this day, knowing that we were not able to speak to one another again, and that I missed my chance to laugh with you and share stories from Okinawa. A few days ago, I came across the one picture I have of you and I thought to myself - i need to reach out and find out where you are...

The last time we spoke was right after you married and moved to Michigan...we always had good intentions of meeting up for coffee since you were in my State, but real life kept getting in the way. The guilt I feel today, knowing that that coffee will never come, and that I missed out on so much of your life - breaks my heart.

I will forever be able to hear you say "Greene," with your Alabama accent. It is one of my fondest memories of you - teasing you about your accent.

Someday, in the next life, I hope to tell you "thank you for being so kind to me," when I got stationed at Camp Hansen. You made the time I spent with the Marines there, fun and palatable. I would have sheltered myself off - if it werent for your friendship.

Tonight, I shall mourn the loss Fate took from this world five years ago...you will forever be a part of my memories.

Semper Fi - Girly Girl, may peace have found your soul and my the winds of fate allow our paths to meet again, one day.

Your Friend,

Greene
