

Lora Ann Aslinger

December 19, 1953 - August 11, 2017

Lora Jean Aslinger

Died Friday evening, August 11, at Crestwood Hospital. Lora was born December 19, 1953 in Lewistown, PA, but moved to Guntersville with her parents, Betty and Gene Ishler when they took over management of Marshall County Park (The Beach) in 1960. Many will remember her as the “Cotton Candy Girl.”

As a member of the first class to graduate from newly constructed Guntersville High School, Lora finished her school years with honors. In 1971 she married David Aslinger and thereafter became mother to three children: Jeremy Lee, Dera May and Gene Stanley.

For her entire life, Lora was an avid reader and serious student. Although quiet in person, she was very expressive in the heartfelt and sincere letters and cards that she spent hours each week writing. She will be missed by her friends and relatives for the encouragement that she so often offered from the Bible about its beautiful promise of a paradise for the human family. A memorial service will be held for her at the Guntersville Kingdom Hall of Jehovah’s Witnesses on Sunday, August 20 at 2 p.m.
